MARBLE & TRAVERTINE

Exterior 2021 Collection

A photograph of a modern outdoor swimming pool. In the background, there is a light-colored building with vertical siding. A stone wall, made of stacked, irregular stones, runs across the middle of the frame. On top of this wall is a long, low planter box filled with dark mulch and several green plants. Three white pillows are placed along the back of the planter box. Three small waterfalls are built into the stone wall, with water cascading down into the pool. The pool water is a deep blue, and there are some red and orange leaves floating on the surface. The overall scene is bright and sunny, with shadows cast on the building's siding.

Why to choose natural stone?

Natural stone reflects unique character, stability, and grandeur hence it is highly used as a premier building material. Natural stone has a broad range of color, pattern, and texture variations which makes it visually interesting and unique. It is also eco-friendly from its journey from the quarry to the living places since it comes from nature. The diversity of natural stone encourages creativity to sector professionals by giving endless design options. Design projects should stand out and reflect the desire, perception, and personality of the designer. Natural stone is an inimitable building material that sets you apart from others because it can't be copied or produced or falsified. Natural stone is a durable building material that stays for centuries as we can even see them in ancient cities. All these aspects, as well as constancy and ease of care, make the natural stone a perfect choice and a reasonable investment.

A photograph of a floor made of large, square, blue marble tiles. The tiles have a natural, veined pattern and are set in a light-colored grout. The floor is outdoors, as evidenced by the presence of a white classical column on the left and a white building with horizontal siding on the right. The lighting is bright, suggesting daylight.
